

A photograph of a degree show exhibition. In the foreground, a man in a white zip-up hoodie and dark trousers stands next to a woman in a black top and dark trousers. They are looking down at a table covered with various items, including a small blue model airplane and some papers. Behind them, there are several large posters and displays on stands. One prominent poster features the word "SHOW" in large letters. The background shows more of the exhibition space with other people and displays.
